

Disability History Month

Disability History Month encourages students to respect individuals with disabilities.

While observing Disability History Month in October, a variety of educational activities will be available to foster greater awareness and understanding of individuals with disabilities. Activities should provide students with the opportunity to learn how people with disabilities have been treated throughout history, how they have been instrumental in changing history and/or how they became active participants in changing societal attitudes about their needs, desires and capabilities.

The Superintendent will develop procedures for building-specific activities to observe Disability History Month.

Cross References:

2336 Required Observances

Legal References:

RCW 28A.230.158 Disability history month — Activities.

Management Resources:

Policy News August 2014

Classification: Priority

Adopted by the Board of Directors: 2/27/2018

Revised by the Board of Directors: 2/27/2018